MESSAGE FROM THE MINISTER

Boosting training opportunities and creating jobs is a key priority for the State Government.

Our training system provides Western Australians with a chance to change their future and supports employers to upskill employees to address skills gaps. This ensures the State's economy continues to grow and diversify.

The State Government is very proud to support the 2019 SkillsWest Expo.

The SkillsWest Expo is Western Australia's leading event to promote careers and training, showcasing the latest that is on offer when it comes to careers, jobs, skills and training.

More than 75 per cent of jobs in the next ten years will require STEM skills. It is vital to our future job market that we have a workforce that is skilled in these areas.

With this in mind the McGowan Government is committed to growing our State's participation in STEM.

Local training ambassadors who have seen first-hand the benefits of training in STEM related fields, will be available at the SkillsWest Expo to share their experience and knowledge.

At this year's expo you can also enjoy interactive displays in areas such as animation, software development, web programming, robotics, horticulture and surveying.

There will also be the WorldSkills Try'a Skill zone – a dedicated space where visitors are guided through different hands-on activities by industry experts.

I encourage you to experience everything on offer at this year's SkillsWest Expo, and take every opportunity to chat with highly skilled trainers, employers and apprentices.

Hon. Sue Ellery MLC
Minister for Education and Training

Jobs and Skills Centre

Western Australians have access to Jobs and Skills Centres – a service that provides a one-stop-shop for information and guidance on career choices and training courses, help with job searching and jobs matching, and assistance with apprenticeships and traineeships.

You can contact or visit your local centre for free, friendly and professional advice on choosing a career direction, selecting a vocational education and training (VET) course or other education pathways, and assistance with finding employment. The centres also offer free workshops such as resume writing and succeeding at job interviews, to assist you in finding employment.

The Jobs and Skills Centres work closely with local businesses and employers, providing free assistance with recruiting new workers, helping to find apprentices and trainees, and developing the skills of their workers. The centres also offer a free online jobs board, on the Jobs and Skills WA website, where employers can post job vacancies. Working closely with the local community helps the centres keep up to date with the needs of local industry and business, so they can offer you great advice on training and career options that are most likely to lead to successful employment outcomes.

As part of the McGowan Government's 'Our Priorities', the Jobs and Skills Centres are one of a number of initiatives to support communities across the State to ensure people are connected to where jobs growth is occurring. The network of 13 Jobs and Skills Centres located across regional and metropolitan Western Australia are located in Joondalup, Balga, Northbridge, Thornlie, Rockingham, Mandurah, Geraldton, Kalgoorlie, Northam, Broome, Karratha, Albany and Bunbury with further outreach services available for people in regional areas. Specialist services for people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds and for ex-offenders are also available.

The centres are complemented by the Jobs and Skills WA website, which offers a comprehensive suite of information and resources about vocational education and training, careers and jobs. The website also features a course search that lists all publicly funded VET courses available from Western Australia's TAFE colleges and private training providers, a free online jobs board with local employment opportunities, and a free Aboriginal jobs board with employment opportunities selected specifically for Aboriginal people. Information on the location of Jobs and Skills Centres and services they deliver is also available on the website – visit jobsandskills.wa.gov.au to find out more.

Staff from the Jobs and Skills Centres will be attending the SkillsWest Expo, and invite you to stop by Site 21 to say hello.

Free Career Advice

Experts from the Career Development Association of Australia (CDAA) are at the SkillsWest Expo to provide free brief career advice on opportunities and provide resume checks.

We live in an unpredictable world of work with many current occupations expected to be redundant in less than a decade.

The CDAA has stated that by 2030 workers will need greater problem solving and critical thinking capabilities along with advanced skills in communications, science, technology, engineering and mathematics.

Increasingly, young people and mature workers seeking new employment directions will need the support of professional career practitioners to navigate unprecedented workplace changes.

"The importance of understanding the changing nature of work cannot be underestimated, and young people in particular should actively seek career advice on skills development to achieve their aspirations," CDAA spokesperson said.

"Relevant, expert and accessible career guidance is a necessity providing support for people in their understanding of future opportunities and the skills and qualifications necessary for them to be successful."

CDAA qualified career practitioners provide this advice based on a clear understanding of the education sector and the labour market now and into the future. They also provide tailored advice using assessment tools to determine each person's skills and interests allowing an individual to make study and occupational decisions and effectively plan career transitions.

The focus of professional career development is on enabling people to develop the skills to manage these challenges, make good decisions about their working lives, and maximise their contribution to the communities in which they live and work.

Don't miss the opportunity to engage directly with CDAA experts at the Career Advice Area, Site 133 during the Expo.

Free Resume Workshops

Most job seekers start their quest for employment by completing a resume outlining their qualifications and personal attributes, then look for a job.

But, according to personal branding, recruitment and human resources expert, Marlene Cole, things have changed significantly in resume requirements that will impress a prospective employer.

"The huge majority of Australian job seekers are using old template-style resumes that do not get through the competitive process that will lead to an interview," she explained.

"The biggest change in resumes is that one size doesn't fit all. You must adapt your resume for each job application and there are key elements that must be addressed.

"Grabbing a resume template off Google or Microsoft Office is the biggest mistake people make. Don't do it!

"If you are applying for jobs and hearing nothing, your resume is not working.

"The new generation careers resume has a targeted headline, key word section and clear, quantifiable bullet points that will create a first impression foothold, show that the job seeker takes their career seriously, and demonstrate the value the person will bring to a company."

Marlene said job seekers often required the support of a professional career practitioner to help them develop the resume and presentation skills they need to get noticed. She has been writing resumes and LinkedIn profiles along with interview and job coaching for more than 15 years.

Each day of the SkillsWest Expo, Marlene will present informative hands-on workshops to create winning resumes that meet what recruiters are looking for when seeking successful job candidates.

As an international multi-award winning resume writer, she has written resumes, performed job-search coaching and prepared candidates for interviews ranging from entry level to executive positions. This includes first time job seekers, people seeking to advance their careers within their current employment, and others looking for a complete new career path.

"I am passionate about helping people develop the career tools needed to get noticed and on the path to workplace success," Marlene explained.

Talk with Marlene at the Workshop Area - Site 132.
